

IPS Program

youth vocational workers

what is it?

IPS stands for individual placement support. IPS supported employment is a specialised program that helps young people with mental health concerns work in regular jobs and in jobs that they are interested in and passionate about. It's all about finding you a job you love, and where you can work in a safe environment with an employer that respects you and where you're at in your recovery journey.

Who can attend?

any young person 16-25 years looking for work or education opportunities.

what happens when you see your IPS worker?

- talk about what your work or training interests are
- help you find and work towards something you're passionate about
- develop your resume
- prepare and assist you with interviews
- help build your confidence in finding a job or work towards your career.

education and employment assistance - IPS will help you to get the job you want
