headspace Now

We have timely headspace Now appointments available for your support at headspace Berri.

headspace Now is a therapeutic service that focuses on addressing the key concerns the young person is experiencing at the time of the appointment and meeting the needs of young people where they are at, now.

headspace Now appointments make the most of each encounter so there is no pressure to have ongoing sessions.

The first appointment will be 60mins, if you decide to have another appointment this will be 45mins.

For headspace to better support you during your headspace Now session:

What would you like to explore during this session? What is the key concern bringing you to headspace?
(How upset or worried are you about these concerns? how often do these concerns happen? how much are these concerns interfering in your life?)

What encouraged you seek support now?

headspace Now discussed	Yes <input type="checkbox"/>
Survey discussed headspace ask the young people we work with to complete a short survey before each session, this survey gives us an idea of the main issues bringing you to headspace and how things are going in different areas of your life. A link for these surveys can be sent to you to complete before your session if you would prefer not to complete it in-centre. How would you like to receive survey:	Yes <input type="checkbox"/>
